

Property Loss

The University does not assume responsibility for loss or damage to students' personal property. Students should examine their own insurance policies and determine whether they cover the student's belongings in Claremont.