

Welcome to the School of Politics & Economics!

We are proud that you have chosen to pursue your academic goals in this unique learning environment. The faculty and staff in the School of Politics and Economics are devoted to providing you with a quality academic experience.

You will find our programs intellectually challenging and rewarding. As a student, you will have the opportunity to develop within the limits of degree requirements, a course of study and research that is best suited to your specific needs and interests. You will acquire technical and analytical skills that apply to real world problems and employment.

ACADEMIC ADVISORS

Each new student is assigned a faculty advisor and in some instances two (Politics and Policy PhD students) and a student mentor. We encourage you to develop a good relationship with your faculty advisor(s). Your first source of information should be this handbook. You should read it thoroughly prior to making any major program decisions, and you should refer to its content throughout your academic program.

NEWS & EVENTS

Please be sure to subscribe to the SPE email listserv (you can do this from the SPE website) so you will be informed of SPE announcements and upcoming events throughout the year. CGU has a very organized and active Graduate Student Council and they post notices of their events at the CGU website.

CONSULT YOUR HANDBOOK REGULARLY

We want your academic career to be successful and therefore provide you with this handbook with each department's guidelines for navigating your way through important processes vital to your success at CGU. Please take the time to read through the handbook to familiarize yourself with the information contained herein.

Do not hesitate to visit our administrative offices located in McManus 237, 2nd Floor—the department staff are ready to help you.
