

HISTORY DEPARTMENT RESEARCH PAPER REQUIREMENT FOR Ph.D. STUDENTS

Before a student can take the qualifying examinations, he/she must complete two substantive research papers, which come out of CGU research seminars, graduate reading courses, or tutorials. The paper should be based on primary sources and demonstrate the student's ability to analyze and utilize such sources in making a historical argument.

Attach your research papers to this form and submit them to the department Chair for review by all the History faculty.

Ph.D. students are expected to complete one of the two substantive research papers by the end of their third semester.

Student Name: _____

ID Number: _____

Paper submitted for: Class # and Name of Class	Signature of Professor	Semester of Class	Final Paper Grade	Check mark if Approved (for faculty use only)

The History faculty have reviewed the research papers submitted with this form and have approved only the ones marked above. If only one was approved the student should contact the Department Chair for advising.

Signature of Department Chair

Date

The History faculty have reviewed the research papers submitted with this form and deny the student's request to use these to fulfill the research paper requirement for Ph.D. students. The student should contact the Department Chair for advising.

Signature of Department Chair

Date

This form should be submitted by the student and Department Chair after review to:

Holly Domingo, Student Support Secretary
Claremont Graduate University, Arts and Humanities
121 E. Tenth Street
Claremont, CA 91711