

COURSE SCHEDULE

NUMBERING

The course numbering system at CGU includes the following numbering sequences:

0 - 199: Undergraduate or preparatory course work which is not counted toward a graduate degree (example: Lang 100Y - English for Graduate Studies)

200 - 299: An undergraduate course at one of the Claremont Colleges which is being taken for graduate credit. Only courses numbered over 100 at the undergraduate institutions are eligible to be taken for graduate credit.

300 - 394: Graduate seminars primarily for Master's level students which may be open to doctoral students.

401 - 494: Doctoral level courses.

500 +: Doctoral level courses

The following course numbers are reserved for specific purposes:

395/396 Internship/Field Study

397 Tutorial Reading (Master's Level)

398 Independent Study (Master's Level)

399 Master's Research

400M Continuous Registration

495 Dissertation Research

497 Tutorial Reading (Doctoral Level)

498 Independent Research (Doctoral Level)

499 Doctoral Study

The following course codes are also used as part of a course number to indicate special attributes of a course:

X Indicates a course numbered 1 - 199 which has been approved for graduate credit in a specific instance.

Y Indicates a course which does not count for graduate credit.

PC Indicates a course taken for Professional Credit rather than graduate degree credit.
