

If I decide to work with a career consultant, what can I expect?

We take seriously our responsibility to provide you with the highest level of service possible. While each career consultant will have his or her unique approach to working with students and alumni, if you choose to meet with a member of the Office of Career Management's professional staff, you can expect:

- To be respected, personally and professionally
- To receive a highly personalized response to your situation
- To be provided with options to consider as you pursue your career goals
- To be offered the opportunity to strategize about your career
- To have the option of an ongoing, facilitative relationship with your career consultant
- To be asked questions that are intended to help you consider your career management needs
- To play the deciding role in what works best for you
