Torie Weiston-Serdan is a scholar and practitioner with over thirteen years of teaching and youth programming experience. An emerging leader in the youth mentoring field, she wrote Critical Mentoring: A Practical Guide, which has become the handbook for culturally sustaining youth work in the field. Outside of teaching and research, Torie runs the Youth Mentoring Action Network, a non-profit dedicated to leveraging mentoring for justice and equity. Through her community-based work, she mentors Inland Empire youth through high school and into college or career. She also does extensive work with other community-based organizations in support of their youth advocacy efforts, specializing in training mentors to work with diverse youth populations; i.e. Black, Latinx, LGBTQ, First-Generation College Students and Low-Income Youth.

As a scholar, she examines how marginalized and minoritized youth are served by mentoring and youth development programs. Torie Currently serves on the Big Brothers Big Sisters LGBTQ National Advisory Council and the Research Board of the National Mentoring Resource Center.
