BIOGRAPHY

David E. Sprott is the Henry Y. Hwang Dean and Professor of Marketing at the Drucker School of Management at the Claremont Graduate University and is on faculty at the University of St Gallen in Switzerland. David recently served as the Dean and a Professor of Marketing at the University of Wyoming's College of Business. Previously, Dr. Sprott served on faculty at Washington State University for over 2 decades where he held the Boeing / Scott and Linda Carson Chair of Marketing along with various leadership positions. As a faculty member, professor Sprott's research interests include: retailing, branding, influence strategies and marketing public policy. His research has been published in the field's top journals such as Journal of Applied Psychology, Journal of Consumer Research, Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research, and Journal of Retailing. His teaching interests include retail management, leadership, brand management, consumer behavior, sales management, and research methods at the undergraduate, masters and PhD levels. He received his Bachelors in Business and MBA from Kent State University and earned a Ph.D. in Marketing from the University of South Carolina.

ADMINISTRATIVE ACCOMPLISHMENTS

David E. Sprott joined the Drucker School of Management at Claremont Graduate University in May 2021. Immediately prior to joining CGU, he served as Dean at the University of Wyoming (2018-2021). Before that, he served as Senior Associate Dean at Washington State University, where he was part of the leadership team in WSU's Carson College of Business from 2007 until 2018. His accomplishments at UW and WSU are reflective of David's leadership style that focuses on developing and maintaining relationships, working in an inter-disciplinary fashion across various academic and support units, and enabling qualified team members to succeed. Below are various accomplishments achieved during his time at UW and WSU:

Major Initiatives as Dean at the University of Wyoming

- Lead the College of Business for its successful 2021 AACSB re-accreditation CIR visit, including strategic planning, formation of an assessment committee, re-energized faculty research, and addressed on faculty "ratios" in terms of faculty deployment and qualifications; first US CIR visit using 2020 standards.
- Developed and launched the College of Business's new strategic plan in January 2019 with an all-inclusive approach of faculty, staff, students and alumni.
- Expanded outreach to the state, business, alumni and donors ranging from working with the UW Alumni Association to engage "GOLD" (Graduates of the Last Decade) alums to launching an "entrepreneurship essentials" program to the citizens of Wyoming.
- Worked to improve the college's morale and culture that had been harmed by historic budget cuts and poor leadership, including the launch of a Staff Advisory Council whose leadership now sits on the college's Executive Team.
- Created a new college-wide Committee on Anti-Racism, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in Fall 2020 in order to investigate, implement, and assess matters related to the enhancement and appreciation of diversity and inclusion throughout the College.
- Launched the new Green Johnson Student Success Center in support of enrollment management, advising, and career services, including a $3.5M capital campaign (construction starts December 2020).
- Supported key economic drivers in the state, including the launch of an interdisciplinary Center for Blockchain and Digital Innovation and a new undergraduate minor in hospitality and tourism.
- Increased support and grew impact of key centers including the Center for Professional Selling and the Center for Business and Economic Analytics.
- Grew the quality and scope of online business programs at the graduate and undergraduate levels, including expanded support of key services for these programs (e.g., marketing, recruitment, course development).
- Revised undergraduate curriculum with the faculty by providing consistency across majors, enhancing course offering efficiencies, realigning minors to the needs of students and the state (e.g., introduced new minors in leadership and hospitality business management, revised minors in entrepreneurship and international business).
- Worked with faculty and staff, revised key internal processes and key policies (e.g., workload policy, college by-laws, procedural guidelines) and streamlined curricular governance structures.

Major Initiatives at WSU:

During his decade+ in leadership at WSU, Dr. Sprott led various college-wide initiatives associated with graduate, international, revenue-generating programs and faculty affairs. The revenue-generating programs introduced during his tenure were entrepreneurial in nature and generated significant monetary resources for WSU and the college, with the college's online graduate programs and international undergraduate programs receiving consistent national recognition. As part of the Dean's leadership team, he helped expand the college's nationally recognized international activities with new and expanded partnerships and programs at institutions in Europe, Africa and Asia. Additional highlights include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Initiated and/or expanded self-supporting programs that now generate multi-million dollar revenue streams, including development and launch of WSU's: Executive MBA (2008), Online MBA (2010), Online EMBA (2011), on-site Swiss undergraduate degree in hospitality (2012), and revised full-time MBA program with a focus on business analytics (2013).
- National ranking for online graduate business programs by US News & World Report (#1 in 2013; #7 in 2014). These programs were also highly ranked for veterans and active military.
- Negotiated WSU's first third party partnership for online graduate programs with Pearson Embanet (2010).
- Led growth in PhD and MBA enrollments to historic highs (2007-2014) and pursued strategic revision of the MBA curriculum across all locations (2010-2012).
- Developed and expanded assessment procedures for MBA and PhD programs (2010-2014).
- Directed International Advisory Board and associated development activities (2008-2018) and strengthened the "Global Learning Requirement" for all business undergraduates (2012).
- Oversaw increased study abroad participation for undergraduates (2007-2018) and directed business plan competitions with domestic and global components in Europe, Africa and China (2007-2018).
- The WSU College of Business has been consistently ranked in the top 25 by US News & World Report for our undergraduate International Business Programs (as of 2018 it was #14).
- Led development and strategy for Center for Behavioral Business Research (CBBR; $1M+ state of the art College-wide laboratory for faculty and student behavioral research; 2005-2008).
- Introduced or revised key faculty policies (e.g., workload policy, summer research program) in support of research and teaching missions of the College (2016-2018).
- Lead the college's inaugural research outreach goal in partnership with various stakeholders (2017).
- Participated in a variety of "team" initiatives during his decade in leadership at WSU including: multiple revisions of the college's strategic plan, weathering the 2008 financial crisis, successful reaccreditation in 2009, 2014 and lead up to 2019, a $1B WSU Campaign completed in Fall 2014, development of and participation in various forms of development work, outreach and engagement, restructuring of the College's National Board of Advisors, and establishing centers in Switzerland and China.

RESEARCH

Professor Sprott is a researcher who investigates various dimensions of consumer behavior and psychology within the domains of: (1) retailing (e.g., pricing and price setting, environmental psychology, mass-customization), (2) branding (e.g., store brands, brands and the self-concept, rebranding), (3) influence strategies (e.g., question-behavior effect, goal failure), and (4) marketing and public policy (e.g., lotteries, normative behaviors). In addition to publications and presentations, details about working papers and current projects are provided below.
