

THE CLAREMONT COLLEGES

Cognitive Forum REVISED Spring 2022

Where: For each, TBD whether in ACB 214 or on Zoom

When: Fridays @ 4:00

Everyone is invited. Join us when you can.

- January 21 Drew Bailey, Professor of Education, UC Irvine
“Challenges & Opportunities: Applying Cognitive Science to Educational Policy”
- January 28 Stephen Lindsay, Professor of Psychology, University of Victoria, Canada,
“Remembering and Believing: The Source Monitoring Framework”
- February 18 Mary Gauvain, Professor of Psychology, UC Riverside, “Children’s Questions”
- March 4 Han Hao, CGU, Rescheduled Below for April 15
- April 1 Diane Halpern, Professor Emerita, Claremont McKenna College & Andrew Conway, CGU, “How Intelligence can be a Solution to Consequential Real-world Problems”
- April 8 Agatha Lenartowisz, Semel Institute for Neuroscience & Human Behavior, UCLA, “Neural Oscillations: A Marker of Attention Control and ADHD?”
- April 15 Han Hao, CGU, “Bridging Psychometric and Cognitive Models of General Intelligence: A simulation Approach to Investigate Process Overlap Theory”
- April 22 Chris Schmank, CGU, “Age-Related Differences in the Influence of Emotion Suppression on Processing Speed”
- April 29 Sara Goring, CGU, “Knowledge, Difficulty, and Experience: Young and Older Adults’ Detection of Semantic Illusions in Syntactic Complexity”
- April 29 @ 1:00 Thesis Proposal Fair by First Year Cognitive Ph.D. Students

For questions, please contact Kathy Pezdek (Kathy.Pezdek@cgu.edu) or Andrew Conway (Andrew.Conway@cgu.edu) at Claremont Graduate University.